Are you ready?

Are you ready?

- to be part of a safe and friendly community in your neighborhood where your young child can learn while playing with others?
- to talk with other parents and caregivers to share your ideas and concerns about raising children?
- to access a supportive environment that can help you overcome barriers to meeting your personal goals and the goals you have for your child?

Good news!

Your neighborhood family center is ready and waiting for you and your child to walk through the door and get started.

Your neighborhood family center

- is a community hub where you and your child can access resources, participate in a variety of programs and connect with other children and caregivers.
- is staffed by caring individuals who often live in or near your neighborhood.
- is dedicated to empowering you, your child and your family to meet life's challenges with the tools you need to succeed.

You and your child can

Access resources

- Meet with a service navigator who can help identify and connect you with services and resources such as
 - Food banks
 - Diaper banks
 - Housing assistance
 - Job training

Participate in programs

- Activities for infants and toddlers that encourage them to explore and learn new things
- Activities for pre-schoolers that prepare them for their Kindergarten classroom
- Parenting support for caregivers of children up to 18 years of age
- Leadership development and advocacy training for caregivers who want to contribute to their community's well-being
- Home visiting for pregnant women and families with infants and toddlers

Make connections

- Play groups for newborns and children up to five years of age
- Social activities for caregivers
- Family Fun Nights and other family-centered social activities

Who is eligible

If you care for a child, you and your child are welcome to visit your neighborhood family center as often as you like. All activities are free.

How to get started

Find the family center closest to you on the list on the back of this brochure. Then, call or stop by. It's just that simple.

Most centers are open Monday through Friday by 9:00 am and stay open until at least 4:00 pm. Please call the center near you or visit the Allegheny County Family Center website (familycenters.alleghenycounty.us) for more details about daytime and evening hours.
