Choosing and Implementing a Program Observation Instrument (POI)

Early Learning Resource Center (ELRC) Region 5 offers Communities of Practice (COP) for early learning professionals to discuss topics of interest, current trends in the field, and offer insight and inspiration to one another. Self-assessment is an essential leadership tool to support program quality and it is directly related to Continuous Quality Improvement (CQI) plans. In March, the COP virtual sessions will give providers the opportunity to explore each Office of Child Development and Early Learning (OCDEL) approved Program Observation Instrument (POI). Attendees will see samples of each POI, an overview of their assessment content, and how they are scored.
