"I just joined the Homewood family center and the lady I work with there is the best she helps me above and beyond literally life is hard especially having two under two and I hate to ask for help I feel embarrassed and like someone is gonna judge me but they make me feel so welcomed each time I would definitely recommend it to any mother or father in need of help its not easy raising a baby let alone two and everyone needs a little bit of help and formula is so expensive so if you can please ask for help they are more then willing to help you and no your not a bad parent for asking for help."
